U. S. AGREES TO HALT DEPORTATION OF MOTHER OF 7 CHILDREN

BABY DEPORTS HERE PLEASE

Revere Woman and Six Children Saved From Expulsion After Appeal to Circuit

The glad news that she may remain in the United States with her husband and seven children, that an order for deportation of herself and six of the family has been stayed for at least six months was received by Mrs. Rosalia Turone of No. 7 Remy road, Revere.

The decision makes it possible for her to mother her four-month-old baby, from whom otherwise she would have been separated by the Atlantic Ocean.

Mrs. Turone was ordered deported on the Homeric on August 5, with six of her seven children. It was feared they would become public charges.

The youngest, Peter, is a citizen of the United States, and therefore does not come within the scope of the deportation order.

Pamela, at the prospect of separation from the mother, is a child of the United States, and therefore does not come within the scope of the deportation order.

Mr. Turone then obtained aid of Speaker Gillett, who in turn took the matter up with the Attorney General. Speaker Gillett received a wire from the Board of Appeals of the Department of Commerce, that a six months stay had been granted to the Turone family.

During the six months, it is believed by the Speaker, the family will be formally admitted to the country as two of three of the older children have become self-supporting and the father has a job which makes it possible for him to support his family.

WHEELER ASSURED

MOTHER AND CHILDREN WIN FIGHT

SAVED FROM DEPORTATION

Mrs. Rosalia Turone of No. 7 Remy road, Revere, and three of her children, two of whom she bore, at the girl at right were arrested with deportation from the United States. The lady is center, Peter Turone, four months old, was born after the mother's arrival with her other six children in this country and is therefore an American citizen. The mother, by latest orders from Washington, is allowed to remain in this country for six months and meantime it is hoped arrangements will be made to let her stay permanently with her husband and family in Revere.

TAILOR FENDS NATIONALISTS

'SMOKES' MOST REJECT DAWES SETTLEMENT

Isaac Masse paid $200 for six cigarettes or $30 apiece. The same cigarettes sell for 10 or 15 cents in any store. Isaac didn't think he was buying smoking, but diamonds. He keeps a tailor shop at No. 434 Blue Hill avenue, Mattapan, and a distinguished looking, elderly man entered the place and opened a small box containing a number of uncut diamonds, which he spread on the counter. Two young men, who came in ostensibly to talk about clothes, also fell in love with them.

The two young men and the tailor agreed to buy the stones, each paying one-third.

At 5:30 Masse opened his safe and took out the package to show his wonderful bargain to a friend. There were no diamonds—only a cigarette box with six cigarettes.

ELECTRIC LIGHT RATES PROBE SOUGHT

Liberal Party Leaders Ask Utilities Commission to Take Action

Bringing the rates charged for electricity by the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston as "exorbitant," and in no way comparable to those in effect in other cities of similar size, the Liberal party of Massachusetts has requested the state Department of Public Utilities to investigate the situation.

According to comparative figures compiled by the executive committee of the Liberal party, electricity rates in Boston are in some instances three times as high as elsewhere. The committee feels that this condition, if permitted to continue, is likely to have an adverse effect upon commercial and industrial activities.

BAY STATE MAN HELD IN MAINE SHOOTING

Victim With Bullet in Brain Dying; Row Over Woman Responsible

Farmington, Me., Aug. 22.—Rev. Ernest Webb of Wilton, formerly of Portland, Me., was indicted in the Farmington jail today as a result of the shooting of Leonard Dakin at Wilton. Dakin, shot through the left eye and with the bullet lodged in his head, was believed to be dying.

Webb voluntarily surrendered at the Farmington jail, stating, according to the authorities, that he had fired the shot that wounded Dakin after an altercation over Mrs. Webb's refusal to leave the Dakin home.

Webb, who was not officially charged with any crime, it was said at the jail that Wilton officers, seeking the man who had shot Dakin, had no been reached.

Webb said that he was twenty-three years old, and that he had lived in Wilton three months after coming from Seattle.

Why Do Busy Men Draw Curlycues While They're Phoning?

[EDITOR'S NOTE.—Prof. Barnabas Pip, psycho-analyst, today outlines the findings of his recent research into the subconscious habits of busy persons. His work on "Finger-lingering—When and Why They Are Bitten" is familiar to the scientific world.]

By Professor Barnabas Pip, S. O. S. (Psycho-Analyst)

Why do busy men draw pictures while engaged in important telephone conversations?

What significance, if any, do these scribbles have?

These are questions that have long puzzled the Society of Chiro-podists.

Every stenographer and every wife knows that men draw pictures while telephoning.

It remained for me to assemble, classify and analyze these drawings to deduce, if possible, what secret passions they reveal.

vision the idea portrayed in the business man.

Banker "X" goes back to work.

He is busy with conferences. On the surface you would say that he is a very hardheaded executive, concerned completely with real balances, mortgage loans, fund raising and whatnot.

The above rises again.

Banker "X" answers. And immediately his telephone pen begins scribbling at the dictation of his subconscious desires.

Here is the design we find:

Now, who was the young lady?

Correct. She dances in Cool De

Mille productions.

As the conversation develops the man's drawings indicate the trend. He is proposing a little playful afternoon on the seashore, as revealed in cryptography below.

What was he talking to?

What did he say?

Draw your own conclusions.

Forty minutes later a bookkeeper delivered two copies of Cool De

Mille and placed it in the trunk attached to the Rolls-Royce car belonging to Banker "X."

The man's telephone conversations complete the history of this typical case.

He calls a certain Hollywood number. A sweet voice answers.

Banker "X" answers as follows:

Space will not permit an exhaustive history of the various ways I have traced. Suffice it to say, no two men draw the same characters. No two men exhibit the same subconscious yearning.

All I can do is urge married women to collect a complete set of their husband's telephone drawings and bring them to my office in the Gray Building. For a moment for I will attempt to tell what the husband is thinking about, for at last science has been opened forward, and the old-fashioned divorce detective fades out.

Radiotron
WD-11

The RUBE means Music or Noise

Buying anything but the best in vacuum tubes is like trying to run a car on gas that is half water. In radio, everything, in the end, depends upon the Radiotrons. You can put perfectly good Radiotrons in a poorly made set—that's true. But the point is that the very finest receiver made can be no better than its tubes.
This is no new or startling announcement.
Everyone knows it. And that's why, at the radio counter, you see each man pick up a Radiotron, and look at the base for the word
"Radiotron" and at the glass for the "RCA" mark. For best reception—real music—nothing short of the best in tubes will do.

KIDNAPERS OF U. S. CITIZEN PURSUED

Maxican General in Pursuit of Gang Which Captured R. B. Barrineau

Washington, Aug. 21.—Reports received at the State Department from David J. B. Myers, American consul in Durango, Mex., said that complete action had been taken for the Mexican, civil and military authorities to search for and capture the kidnapers of R. B. Barrineau, an American in Tepic, Mexico, General Covic, who accompanied General Myers to Tepic, says it is in charge of the expedition and is reported to be thoroughly familiar with the district. It appears that Barrineau arrived at the Tepic camp of Covic, about six hours by rail back from Tepic, on Friday evening, August 18, with one companion. On Saturday morning five armed and mounted bandits appeared and unsuccessfully demanding $400,000.

SCARCITY OF FISH SENDS PRICES UP

An off week finds fish rather scarce and prices on all but ground fish somewhat higher. The receipt of few swordfish has raised the price to fifty cents a pound. Halibut is higher, at forty-five cents a pound, and Eastern salmon is forty cents. Bluefish, still scarce, brings fifty cents a pound.

BOSTON MEN AT MOVIE PARLEY IN NEW YORK

Summoned to Aid Fight of Union for New Wage Adjustment

Officials and members of the wage conference committees of the Motion Picture Operating Properties Union, 182, and Theatrical Stage Employees, Local 11, are in New York City today in answer to a summons that their presence was desired at a conference then in progress between international and local representatives of Boston Musicians Union and the theatre owners and managers of Boston theatres.

The musicians' representatives and Joseph Weber, their international president, have been in conference with representatives of the legitimate theatres and with R. G. Larsen of Boston, president of the Theatrical Managers' Association of Boston, since Tuesday.

CHAMBER TRIP ONE ROUND OF PLEASURE

Powerful western hospitality, on an even more elaborate scale than usual, is to be accorded the members of the "round to coast trip" which is to leave Boston on September 3, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Chamber of Commerce, for a country-wide survey of business conditions.

It has this added objective of making Massachusetts and the rest of New England better known as the rest of the country, from a business point of view, and cementing friendships that will rebound to the benefit of the section of the country.

The trip is to be an educational round of reciprocal dinners, luncheon, sightseeing and entertainment of its members.

At the outset, the party is to travel in the open motor train of the Delaware and Maryland, specially equipped with every accessory for the comfort, convenience and entertainment of its members.

The trip is to be a pleasure one, with the schedule so arranged that the various features may be enjoyed to the full. Governors of States and Mayors of cities will join in acting as hosts to the party and delegations of business men will meet the party at various points and act as guides during the tour of inspection.

GEORGIA MARRIAGES OFF UNTIL AUGUST 25
Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 22.—Although it has been definitely agreed and decided that marriages contracted in Georgia between last Monday and Wednesday are illegal, according to Justice Thomas H. Jeffries of Fulton County, they will be declared legal, because of "an emergency."
There can be no further marriages in Georgia, however, until August 25, or as many days thereafter as must elapse before the five-day license posting specified under the law signed by Governor Walker on Monday has been completed with.

The trouble arose from the fact that the bill as originally introduced provided that the law should not become effective until January 1, 1925. But this clause seems to have got lost during the rush of the closing days of the Georgia Legislative session.

DEAR MR. HERRIMAN: I LOVE AND WAR PRACTICALLY THE SAME THING.
LET'S—I'M VERY HONEST AND WAS "FOUR B" IN THE DEPT.

The news, entertainment, education, and helpful services have made the Boston American the largest home-delivered newspaper in New England.

Hotel New England

Gentlemen Aboard to Write His Name on the Register Is an Old Friend—Give Him the Best of the House Affairs

Three or four news dispatches which have appeared in the public prints in the past few days suggest that if our old friend, Gen. Prosperity, has not returned bag and baggage to New England he at least is knocking at the gates.

There has been so much of gloom spreading and crepe hanging, not to say calamity howling, that these dispatches make encouraging reading. They may be summarized as follows:

"Several closed mills, as well as additional departments at other Fall River mills, reopened this week, giving employment to 2,500 persons. The resumption was hailed with relief by operatives, business men and the city generally.

"It is believed that this reopening, following others that have been made within the past few days, marks the end of the period of curtailment."

"Both employment and production figures in the Haverhill shoe industry show a marked improvement in the volume of business now being handled in the shoe plants. For several weeks the industry has been slowly reviving, but the improvement now appears general, with prospects for an active fall."

"There has been a brisk business in several textile cloth lines during the past few weeks. After nearly seven months of monotonous decline in prices and dragging sales the market for cotton textiles appears to be looking upward in many producing and distributing centers."

"Improvement in the business conditions in the textile industry of the Worcester section is noted. In Millbury, the Norrie Mills, Inc., manufacturers of crash goods, have resumed operations after having been closed several weeks.

"In Hudson, the Hudson Worsted Company has returned to a 48-hour weekly schedule after a shutdown."

"The Fabyan Woolen Company in Medway, which has a large order for automobile cloth, is operating its finishing department day and night, six days a week, while the other departments are operating five days and for four nights a week."

There have been more of these reports, all of the same tenor. If they do not mean that the period of depression is ended they may at least be taken as straws showing which way the wind blows.

Cheer up!

Dallinger Speaks Out

Congressman Expresses His Opinion That Neither Gillett Nor Louis A. Collidge Could Be Elected United States Senator If Nominated

The three-gentleman contest for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate begins to perk up a little, to show signs of life.

One of the three aspirants has doffed his kid gloves and dropped the style of campaigning best illustrated by Mr. Oppen's, "After you, my dear Alphonse!"

Driving into the great textile city of Lowell, a night or two ago, Congressman Frederick W. Dallinger of Cambridge, mounted the City Hall steps and delivered a speech in which he reminded Republicans that nomination-day is followed by election-day.

Said Mr. Dallinger:

"One of my opponents, while in the Massachusetts Legislature, voted against a 56-hour law for women and minor children. In Congress, he has been consistently against labor."

"The other opponent, as treasurer of the greatest moneymaking in the United States, has been constant in his opposition to the interests of the working man. He opposes publicly the Child Labor amendment, by which we hope to prevent the employment of child labor."

"Because of the labor record of these two gentlemen, neither could be elected if nominated."

At this distance from the arena it looks as if the Dallinger warning is AT LEAST as important to the Republican rank and file as the question which Frank Stearns' endorsement of the Gillett candidacy should be taken as an order from the White House.

In the two weeks which remain of this primary campaign Speaker Gillett and Mr. Louis A. Collidge may be expected to get down to brass tacks.

We reminded all three gentlemen, some time ago, that none of them has been chosen, as yet, to make the running against Senator Walsh and that what the Republican voter expects from each of them before the primary election is a plain statement of:

"Why I should be nominated for the United States Senate in preference to either of my Republican opponents."

Congressman Dallinger has led the way.

No Pistols?

Criminals Will Always Get Them

A learned magistrate would stop manufacture of pistols, making it a felony. Many appear to think that framers of the Constitution made a mistake in guaranteeing the right to have and bear arms. If the courts were more energetic, swift and stable in punishing the misuse of arms, their possession might become less dangerous. It is certain that criminals will always find a way to get them. The most that could be achieved would be to prevent non-criminals from getting weapons.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

THESE are days when a man goes down to his office and works a little every morning just to take his mind off the radio.

"Most men know as little about what's going on under the hood of a motor-car as they know about what's going on under a wife's hat, but, like a clever detective, they try to look 'em up."

"Marriage has its confidences. Every married woman feels a comforting proprietary satisfaction in the sight of a man's glances in the closet, even though she may not be able to control his wandering foot."

Funny how a man can have a girl desperately, all summer, and then have to stop to recall her name when he addresses a note to her at Christmas.

About every four months a man

THE HELPING HAND

Letters Not Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls or Anonymous Letters. No Names Published.

Motherless Child
Helping Hand Editor:
Please send me the address of the 15-year-old girl, Mildred C. whose letter was in the paper.

MRS. J. H. E.
Mildred C. has been most generously supplied, so have taken the liberty of sending you the address of ALICE B., a motherless child, who can make use of what you have to send her.

Wash Suits to Give
Helping Hand Editor:
Would like the address of someone with little boys, ages six or seven years, as I have some little wash suits I would be glad to send them.

MRS. W. J. B.
Mrs. C. J. R. will be grateful for these little suits and we thank you.

Coat and Hat for Mrs. L. M.
Helping Hand Editor:
Would you kindly send me Mildred C. address, as I have a coat and hat that I can send her.

MRS. W. J. B.
Mildred C. has been most generously supplied, so have taken the liberty of sending you the address of Mrs. L. M., who has five girls who, I am sure, can make good use of them.

Sends Bundle of Clothes
Helping Hand Editor:
Have a bundle of clothing I would be glad to give someone. They are all white and clean and will fit a woman size 38 or 40. Also few things for a boy about four and a child of two. Will send parcel post to any address you may give.

MRS. A. L. V.
Thank you. We are sending you

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN
The noblest motive is the public's good.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON FOOL FRIENDS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE successful as well as the unsuccessful have reason to improve the Deity to deliver them from their fool friends. This remark is occasioned by the action of some of Mussolini's friends in Italy who thought they were doing a service to the cause of Fascism by removing Deputy Matteotti.

Anyone who has studied any kind of movement knows that it is easier to start one than to stop it.

It is easier to get people excited than to calm them. It is easier to raise the devil than to lay him.

Everyone who has had much to do with popular movements is aware of this fact. Every one who has ever attained any amount of conspicuity knows it. It is hard to be temperate and, at the same time, manage an affair which depends upon intemperance for its motive power.

Most of the people in the United States, for instance, are in favor of the abolition of the saloon with all its attendant evils. It would seem they have enough to do with fighting their enemies and the enemies of the cause, but probably as much harm has been done by the unwise friends of prohibition as by its enemies.

The same thing is true of the labor movement. The effort to place the laboring man in a position where they can get justice is interfered with quite as much by their friends, the Communists and Socialists, as it is by their enemies. It would be much easier to secure justice for the working men if they could always restrain their intemperate and ill-advised friends.

Everybody, almost, is convinced that the worker does not receive his share of the profits, at least that what his share is should not be determined by those who have control merely of the capital, but far from everyone is convinced by the radical attacks made by the Socialists and Communists and others, in favor of the working man as a class.

The legitimate aim of every party is to be of benefit to its country is injured quite as much by its fool friends who make extravagant claims that cannot be justified, as by others.

It seems impossible to secure a decent balance in the human system, just enough radicalism and just enough conservatism. In everyone some tendency seems to predominate.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON MAKING TELESCOPES

By Garrett P. Serviss

AM sometimes asked for advice on homemade telescopes. My advice is: Do not try to make a telescope unless you possess one or both of these two advantages: First, you should be practically and skillfully mechanic; second, you should be able to grind and polish glass lenses the way the professionals do. The work is done in optical shops.

It is more likely that you should be a good mechanic than that you should understand the less common art of the instrument maker. If you could, if you would, acquire both of these necessary qualifications solely for the sake of making a telescope, as the great astronomer, William Herschel did, that in our day not many would go to so much expense. It is not unless intended to learn to make telescopes as a business. Herschel had to make his own, and, first, to learn how, because there was no one else to make them for him—at least as he wanted to have it done.

Buy Lenses
If you have the needed mechanical skill, but not the art of glass, you may make the tube and the mounting for your telescope, but you must buy the lenses. You may thus have a good deal of expense. The mounting is, as a rule, the principal part—the object-glass—is also costly.

A three-inch one may cost as much as a hundred dollars, or the price goes up proportionately with increase of size, just as happens with diamonds. Then you need several eyepieces, of different powers, and they will cost several dollars apiece. A really reflecting prism is a great convenience to save twisting the tube in looking at objects high in the heavens, and that may cost ten dollars. There is a recent American work on the telescope by Dr. Louis Bell which affords a valuable practical knowledge.

There is one thing to be said in favor of making one's own, and that is, independence of the saving of expense, that concerns the pride and personal satisfaction which the achievement affords and also the practical knowledge that you gain.

Once-Overs
THE PLEASURE OF HELPING OUT IN AN EMERGENCY.
Said a man recently: "The greatest pleasure I get out of life is the feeling that I have been permitted to fill a breach."

Merely to be one who helps out in an emergency, some means. What is your attitude in this particular?

Are you willing to be the one who helps out, or are you indignant if you are not called upon to do so?

Can you imagine any more kindly feelings than these held for the person who never fails to be there in an emergency?

Just think of the persons who are struggling for success in one thing or another and who would fall short of the goal if it were not for someone to take up the slack when the weakened arm and the weary hands at the last.

Have you ever tried to experience the satisfaction arising from just such circumstances?

If not, get your heart and mind into the spirit and you may find the opportunity at any very good opportunity.
